1. Welcome from your Teaching Team

Dear Student,

We are very pleased that you have decided to study at Cardiff School of Management, and we look forward to welcoming you to your course.

The Department of Accounting, Economics and Finance is staffed by experienced academics and industry professionals all of whom will support and guide you through your studies.

Each programme is managed by a Programme Director and Year Tutors. You will also be assigned a Personal Tutor. Our processes are designed to give students a strong voice and we hope that you will use this voice constructively to enhance your experience and the experience of others. We will explain to you the formal and informal mechanisms that you can use to contribute to the ongoing development of your programme.

We look forward to meeting you during Induction Week when we will cover all the essential aspects of student life as well as introducing you to your specific programme of study. During the week you will meet your Programme Director and other members of staff. A number of on-line sessions will be scheduled to provide information about your programme, learning opportunities, clubs and societies and you will have the chance to take part in activities that will help prepare you for your studies.

2. Pre-Entry Summer Tasks

UK Trade Map

Use the Trade Map to explore the trade relationship between the UK and the rest of the world in the Office for National Statistics interactive map (click here). The map shows UK total trade from 1999 to 2016. You can click on any country to see the historical exports and imports (below) and the 2016 trade on the right hand side. Try to spend time on these the following questions, they will be useful for you in your macroeconomics sessions:

- a. Will the EU remain an important UK trade partner?
- b. How much does the UK trade with the EU and the rest of the world?
- c. How does geography impact UK exports and imports to the rest of the world? Is historical trade link important? (Hint: see Australia and New Zealand).
- d. What is UK UK trade deficit and surplus by country in 2016? (Hint: The UK has a trade surplus (we export more than we import) with 67 territories, including Ireland, Switzerland, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Australia and Brazil.)
- e. Does the UK have a 'special relationship' with the US? (Hint: explore the trade relationship with the US to see if has strengthened in recent years.)

As you are coming to study economics, you will need to start thinking as an economist. Start thinking about what economists do and more importantly what they don't do. This will help you participate in the early discussions in all your classes and get an idea about the study you are about to embark upon.

The following basic preparations will be extremely helpful.

- a) Familiarise yourself with the basic and advanced operations with fractions, percentages.
- b) Learn how to plot simple mathematical functions like lines, parabolas etc.
- c) Refresh your algebra, logarithm, exponential and basic differentiation techniques (do you know if  $y=nx^n$ , then  $dy/dx=n^2x^{n-1}$  ?)
- d) Have a second look at the day-to-day economic activities you perform: identify consumers and producers and identify what they trade. If a store owner does not give you your stuff after you have paid for it, what can( 't) you do about it?
- e) Think about what could be a potential gain from Brexit from economics point of view? Would you expect a situation like banking crisis in 2008?
- f) Can you sell your used car for your expected price? If yes, how? If not, why not? What can you do about it?
- g) Is your economics degree worth the effort? Do people value it? What can you do to get the most out of your economics degree? Are you studying economics to make more money than others? If yes, do you know how? If not, do you want to? If you don't, what exactly you want from economics?

Spend a good amount of time thinking about these questions. Bring them to class in September if they sound interesting to you. You will have plenty of occasions where you can start discussing them.

Knowing the CORE Curriculum

Please download the Curriculum Open-access Resources in Economics (CORE) free e-textbook from <http://www.core-econ.org>. Use your mobile phone, laptop or desktop to familiarise yourself with the CORE outline over this summer. There are several videos, quizzes and games that you can play. This will give you an advantage when study The Economy 1 and The Economy 2 in your First Year.

- CORE is an open-access, interactive ebook-based course for anyone interested in learning about the economy and economics.
- CORE is a question-motivated way to learn the tools of economics.
- CORE is based on recent developments in economics and other social sciences.
- CORE is a community of learners and teachers collaborating to make economics accessible and relevant to today's problems.

Reading for Quantitative Methods

Swift, L. & Piff, S. (2014). Quantitative Methods for business, management and finance, 4th edition, Palgrave Macmillan.

Quantitative methods is the basics for Accounting, Economics and Finance. Without these essential skills, you will come across lots of things you don't understand in your course, career and life. The implementation of the techniques, such as Excel enable the students to enter intermediate/advanced level of Accounting, Economics or Finance. The ultimate purpose is to equip you with a powerful tool (and the confidence of using it) to understand the world and to have greater career choices.

Structure of the Module: The first part of the module focuses on the "deterministic analysis" where there is no uncertainty, for example, operations between numbers/symbols, solving equations, and function linking variables (causes and effects). The second part of the module focuses on the "stochastic analysis" where there is uncertainty, for example, probability theory, etc.

General Reading to help you with your Programme

The Ascent of Money: A Financial History of the World- 2012 (also available on DVD from Amazon)

by Niall Ferguson (Author)

- ISBN-10: 0718194004
- ISBN-13: 978-0718194000

Bread, cash, dosh, dough, loot. Call it what you like, it matters now more than ever. In The Ascent of Money, Niall Ferguson shows that financial history is the back-story to all history. From the banking dynasty who funded the Italian Renaissance to the stock market bubble that caused the French Revolution, this is the story of booms and busts as it's never been told before. With the world in the grip of the biggest financial crisis since the Great Depression, there's never been a better time to understand the ascent - and descent - of money.
