Scholar stories

My PhD project aims to define the tectonic and geodynamic environment in which a huge Ladinian magmatic activity occurred in the Southalpine area (Dolomites). The first scientific results were presented in the Emile Argand conference, held in Briancon-Montgenevre (France) in September 2015. The results will be published in international journal. Hassan Abbas, La Sapienza University,

I'm really enjoying my mobility in Bordeaux, it's a great city, and I appreciate the university and the courses. I'm well-welcomed as an Erasmus student, and i see my level progress. Thank you. RAJI Mohammed Amine, University of Many thanks to all universities for welcoming and supporting their Cohort 2 scholars. We look forward to the achievements and successes of our continuing Cohorts 1 & 2 and the new incoming scholars!
